Five years and fifteen issues. That's almost seasonal. I have to admit, I'm pretty excited. I started SHAFF right after the 2004 RNC protests in NYC — in fact, the first incarnation was a "free trade was invented by space aliens" pamphlet for a Really Really Free Market at St. Marks Church. And thanks to lovely folks re-distributing the comics, they've gone all over the world. And, quite exciting to me, Eberhardt Press will be publishing an anthology of the first five years of SHAFF, due out next spring! We will make it as dirt cheap as possible, and of course individual issues will remain free.

new (ish) from Strangers in A Tangled Wilderness:
- more zines!
- a photo book!
- special SHAFF issue "Rolling Dumpster"!
- other crap!

Not in My Backyard!

Did you know, that in our neighborhood:
- There are ATMs dispensing money?
- A large number of storefronts (nearly 100%) use windows to create artificial boundaries between interior and exterior spaces?
- These same stores require the donation of money before they allow you to take items that you desire?

No More:
- Windows
- Anti-theft devices
- ATMs
- Monogamy
- Other things we don't desire

Yes to bricks!

Even the IWW is forming splinter groups. I've never been so embarrassed to be a wobbly.

yeah, I'm a wobbly!

heh heh.

you're a wobbly.

grun.

Maybe if you're wobbly you shouldn't drink so much.

So now there's the industrial workers of the world... boring.
The anti-workers of the world...

eh...

And the anti-industrial workers of the world.

wooh!

look, we tried this "one big union" thing 100 years ago. It didn't work. Give up the ghost.

And you're into propaganda of the deed?

Fair enough.
Oh no! Someone shot the facilitator!

Eh, well, he was kind of domineering anyhow.

Yeah, but the social warriors, as the newest faction, are a convenient scapegoat for a whole host of gripes.

Yeah! They don't share my specific analysis on a number of issues!

Let's get 'er Hijinks Enshue!

Phew. Glad we're safe back at our infoshop.

Hey, don't call it an infoshop. That sounds like subculture.

Okay, our community center.

What are you, an activist?

Well, wherever we are, I'm glad we're here. It was scary, all those people attacking us in the comments on anarchistnews.org.

I never thought we'd make it through the blogosphere alive!

I'm just like ARA.

The Philosophical Anarchists

I wish you wouldn't wear that shirt.

Even the "don't call me an anarchist" anarchists will be there: the horizontalists, the autonomists, and the autonomous Marxists.

And of course, us. The Social Warriors.

Can you dig it? There are more factions of us than there are cops in this town! If we fight our real enemies instead of each other, we could run this city! Can you dig it?

I don't want to talk about anything. Sounds organizationalist if you ask me.
