Hey check out the iPhone app I made, "Oogle Earth." It shows you the best places to sponge and drink.

you have an iPhone?

You do you.

Other travel kids can rate dumpsters, tag abandoned buildings, even track the prices of malt liquor in real time.

other crusties have iPhones?

I got old.

It's got train schedules, a database of friendly workers, and a list of words that would work as knock tats.

I'm kind of grumpy these days. This won't surprise anyone who knows me, of course. But I'm frustrated by the large number of anarchists who don't think that anarchism should be diverse.

I guess I shouldn't complain. All this infighting is great fodder for writing comics. I think the worst of this will pass. As I've traveled around the US for the past bit, most people in most places are content to let other groups be, to just do what it is they do.

Of course, talking trash about talking trash is always weird, so I'll stop.

The anarchist movement sure has gone downhill in the past few years. And clearly, it's because of one specific group.

Sure has. Yes. Andorra-liberals. Insurrectionists.

Very shortly (summer 2010?) there will be a collection of Super Happy Anarcho Fun Pages coming out from eberhardt press.

In the meantime, there are dozens of zines available from Strangers In A Tangled Wilderness. Some new stuff includes "Space Pirates with Mohawks And Shit" and the equally foul-mouthed "inertia is a motherfucker."

And new Steam Punk Magazine issues. We're up to #7 now. Plus lots of crazy projects in the works!

You! Get back in the building! This is an occupation, not a walk-out!

Huh? You can't tell me what to. We're anarchists, remember?

Anarchism is so passe. Er, I mean, bourgeois. We're like, doing this for the Commune. We're get to build the Party.

You mean you're a commie now?

I guess, if you're into labels.

Can you believe that person? They're an authoritarian commie!

Eh, I think it would be more accurate to say that we communists with a Marxist critique of capital.

What? They get you in?

Hey, it's good enough for the Invisible Committee.

Ahh! I'm surrounded by neo-commie zombies who are leaking off of the anarchist scene because they're too feeble to enact a resistance movement of their own!

All... Power... to... the... Commune...

What will happen to our valiant hero? Stay tuned to the anarchist movement to find out if we all become a bunch of vanguardist neo-commies or if we find a way to rid ourselves of authoritarian infiltration!
Alright! An anarchist bookfair, let's go!

Eh, I don't know, it's kind of just anarchy mall!

What's, how cynical do you have to be to think the tables are in it for the money?

How'd you know? I never been to an anarchist bookfair before, have you?

Hey, what a cool shirt! How much is it?

Eighteen bucks. All we got is twelve.

This shirt costs eighteen.

I got this other shirt. 25 bucks cause it's fair trade.

What a great bookfair!

Totally, Anarchist mall rules.

There was only that one jerk. Everyone else was just excited about spreading anarchist ideas.

And besides, if we'd beat up a vendor and stolen their stuff at a normal mall, someone would have called the cops.

Dear the punks, I have a weird rash on my arm, what should I do?

Ask the punks for medical advice!

Yay!

Yeah, do that if you're a hipster.

What? That's incredibly irresponsible. Put a little bit of tea tree oil on it, see if that helps.

Hey, I think I've got gnat fungus. What's the deal?

No, no, if you don't treat it, you'll end up giving it to other people. Just put some tea tree oil on it and it'll clear right up.

Hey, I think I've got lice. Or maybe it's just dandruff. Either way, my head itches.

Who cares, just let it be.

Waaaaa! Who cares if your head itches?

Tea tree oil should help with that.

What? You can't just leave your friend for dead? Have you tried tea tree oil?

Dear the punks, my squatmate just fell through the floor of the squat and I'm not sure if they're breathing.

Dear fake doctors, I've got a rash. Or maybe it's just dandruff. Either way, my scalp itches.

Well, looks like it's time to look for a new squat.
Gah! You're such an oogle.
You're an oogle.

Your dog is passing on the floor right now.
See you're still the oogle.

I am not an oogle! I pay rent!
ooh, look who takes pride in their own exploitation.

Look, I can prove that you're an oogle.
See? It's right there on the wikipedia page for "oogle." That's a picture of you.

How do you know how to edit wikipedia? You sniff glue!
At least I'm not an oogle.

You think every travel kid is an oogle.
I do not.

It's just that so many travel kids are useless drunks who wear anarchist patches but never do anything.

Have you met any house punks?

I got a new tattoo!

You got "sheepish" tattooed on your knuckles! What a terrible idea! Prove it.

The worst.

Nah, I bet I could come up with a worse tattoo.

Later, check out my new kewk tattoo.

"Kid cup".

My new backpiece is a diagram of how to wire up a bomb timer with household supplies.

What? Why?

Oh, we're having a bad-idea tattoo competition.

That's moronic.

Can I join?
sure.

Check it out! I got "terrorism is the voice of the people" across my collar.

That's nothing. I got "after careful planning, I killed officer Johnson, badge #4130, with a stolen handgun" on my shoulder.

What about you?

I get the golden arcles tattooed on my neck.

Whistle

You win.
So I said, "If you're not an insurrectionist, when you're 18, you've got no heart. If you're still an insurrectionist when you're 18 and a half, you've got no brains."

That's not true. Most of the insurrectionists I know are probably in their late 20s.

Ha Ha Ha Ha

Anyway, I don't see what's so bad about being an academic. It's like being a student forever: reading books and talking about them over with your peers...

Sure, and I'd love to just eat cupcakes and watch Battlestar Galactica all day, but that doesn't mean it's very useful.

Oh, totally.

All of these liberals are running anarchy.

Glare

Absolutely.

When you say "liberal," do you mean everyone who isn't an insurrectionist?

Glare

Yeah, basically.

They waste their time building infrastructure instead of actualizing their desires. We need fridays and orgies, not infrastructures and food not bombs.

Glare

What if their desires are to build community spaces and to eat communal meals?

Glare

Then they're liberals.

I mean, what do you all do? Sit around and theorize the best possible revolutionary strategy, all the while demonizing folks who are at least trying things out?

Glare

You keep glaring at me, but that doesn't mean I'm wrong.

I mean, what do you all do? Write communiques denouncing petty vandalism, while antagonizing folks who are trying to enact anarchist alternatives to capitalism?

Glare

I kind of hate everything.
