One reason America is so great is our firm dedication to the principles of democracy.

Are you talking to yourself?

Yeah. It helps me sleep at night.

ALWAYS FREE!
Welcome to SHAFP #4, the first issue with an intro. SHAFP is produced and distributed by Strangers in a Tangled Wilderness, a distro that is dedicated to gift economic practice. If you want to subscribe (for free) to SHAFP, get back issues, get additional copies to distro or recieve flats to copy, please contact us at strangers@riseup.net.

Strangers in a Tangled Wilderness has
- the Super Happy Anarcho Fun pages 1-4
- Said the pot to the kettle: feminist theory for anarchist men
- In the hall of the mountain King: an (auto-biographical?) novella by Jimmy T. Hand and will soon also carry
- The Art of War by SunTzu
- Dorian: a non-political apocalyptic comic
- more original anarcha-feminist literature

And now the comics

Those pigs are such bastards! one just hit me with his baton!
Do you mean one of the cops you were throwing rocks at?
Yeah! He almost broke my arm! Where is the police accountability in this town?

You know what I love about these big summit protests is that they're like a big family reunion.

That's so true.

Except hopefully no one's getting laid at family reunions.

Look, you say that democrats and republicans are essentially the same, right?

And yet you hold that red & green anarchists are completely different?

We have nothing in common with those commie scum! organizationalists! believers in mediated society!

Right.

I will solve you, math creature... understand: this is visceral - you are an abstraction, monstrous in the ways you distract from the immediate.

We at "Anarchy is not Chaos" are trying to dispel the illusion that Anarchism is chaotic. We just advocate a bottom-up power dynamic in the system's social control.

Social control... you mean like government?
No, no we're anarchist, the governing body will be entirely accountable to the people.

I've been living in this town too long. It's only been 3 weeks.

And goods will be distributed through a system of hourly credit.

Oh! you mean like in capitalism?
No, we're anti-capitalist.

Time to pack my bag...

I miss the days when anarchists wanted anarchism. This is the real world, buddy!

Cast all fear aside...

Sounds great. What do you call it?
"Anarchism: for anarchy to live, anarchism must die."

Time to pack my bag...

Ah, the thrill of the open road. No worries, only sunshine.

what are you doing?
I'm writing a manifesto against anarchist authority.

"Anarchism: for anarchy to live, anarchism must die."

and toast this town farewell.
Hey, that's my last beer!

I hate hitchhiking so much.
Hypothesis: Money is bad.

Aww, man, what did you do that for? I could have fed my kids with that!

Conclusion: Life is not as simple as I was led to believe.

So, in order to get this job, I need an address.

So, in order to get this apartment, I need a job.

Capitalism sucks.

It's your 21st B-day, you're drunk.

but... I've been thinking... getting drunk used to be rebellious, illegal, but now I'm just buying into a societal opiate.

Cheer up. I know I should be happy...

well, you could always buy beer for minors, homebrew whiskys or distill whisky in public.

Viva la revolucion.
Welcome, comrades, to the first meeting of FACASANG-AOCK.

We also have Tim to keep track, John is the time keeper, Aaron for Vibes Watch. Does anyone want to take notes? Maybe a woman?

We have allocated the next hour to discussing an agenda. Maybe we could have a go around to see if people think this is enough time.

3 hours later, I'm feeling a bit of a problem with the power dynamic in this socio-political context.

3 more hours, another 3 hours. I'm hungry. Please don't skip ahead on the agenda.

So then we have just assigned the sub-sub-committee to create our formal critique of the anti-democratic nature of green anarchist practice.

If there are no objections, I will be acting as facilitator of tonight's meeting.

Yeah, I'll probably keep travelling until I end up with a kid.

I dunno... it might be nice to travel with a kid.

Let's see... dirty socks... book... flashlight... What did I do with the baby? Oh... there it is.

My little brother wants a hamster for his birthday. I say, so I can't give money to a "pet" slave shop.

Well, clearly there's only one thing to do.

Is that an "Alf" the alien" shirt? What? you don't like Alf?

Great! How many hamsters did you rescue? Well, just the one. Just one!?! What? did you want more than one? Look, just because you're stealing is no reason to be materialistic.

Hamster Inc. "We put shampoo in hamster's eyes." open 10-7 M-F tours at 12 please no cameras, activists, cats or bombs.

I can't believe you broke into a lab and only rescued one hamster! I named him Archibald "Harry" Tuttle. Want to go burn down a new condo complex? Or maybe you'd rather only torch one of the apartments? Do you not like Harry? Is that what you're getting at?

Ah, you set my hair on fire! Now my head is burning!

What are you smiling about? You made the cover of both Green Anarchy and Earth First!? You're not even a green anarchist! You wear a shirt with a robot on it everyday!

Some people say it looks like tofu.
